

FRIDAY BULLETIN

Parking on Site

We know that parking onsite has been more problematic recently, particularly on days when there are large events happening on campus or the weather is particularly cold or damp.

We contacted the the Access manager who informed us that “the barrier on car park 6 being open has also allowed for easy access for staff to park. The fault with the barriers is related to a cabling issue and will not be looked at until next week . Hopefully if cabling engineers can identify the problem the barriers could be back in action later next week , however if further investigation is required it could be a couple more weeks”

If car park 6 is full when you come for your shift, please call the office and we can advise you on other possible places to park. .

Do you have any spare audiobooks on CD?

Many of our inpatients are unable to read books or magazines but listening to an audiobook would really help pass the long hours spent in hospital. We have a very limited number of audiobooks on CD and are looking for donations, ideally short stories and relatively modern. Many thanks.

Personnel Change

Come along and say hello to Satish who has joined our team in the reception/admin role for us. We're really looking forward to welcome Keith back to the team, supporting our young person's programme.
